

DECLINED - recurring process attempt.

The credit card processor, Quantum Gateway, may have returned you to this web page after a "DECLINE" during an attempt to process your card.

If so, you should not have a charge against your card for the transaction attempt if Quantum Gateway sent you to this webpage, but if you do, let us know asap. We can use our vendor terminal with the processor to check status or make corrections if required and we desire to avoid charge backs.

If you understand why the "DECLINED" and are okay with trying again (like trying a different card), you may go back to the transaction page and try again.

If you arrived at this page and it was not expected as part of a transaction with us and you have concerns, please do contact us.

Source URL: <https://cocoavillagepublishing.com/payment/recurring/declined>